

W. A. COZART IS UP FOR BIGAMY

WAS MARRIED IN DOTHAN
ONLY A WEEK OR TWO AGO

Marianna, Fla., Nov. 13.—The preliminary hearing of W. A. Cozart, a Mobile insurance man, who married Miss Pansy Peacock, of Greenwood, a few days ago, will come up before the county judge here tomorrow.

Cozart is now in jail unable to make bond in the sum of $1,000. The prosecutor in the case is a lady from Mobile, who gives her name as Mrs. Cozart No. 1, and says she and the defendant were married in Polk county, Fla., seven years ago and that they have two children, and to substantiate this statement had the latter brought here today.

The defendant declines to discuss the case. Cozart has been in the Greenwood neighborhood for about three months and during the recent constitutional amendment fight took an active part for the amendment. The case is a peculiar one, it being alleged by the prosecution that the first marriage ceremony was performed in Florida, while the last one was at Dothan, Ala., and he was back in Florida when arrested.

The case has aroused much interest here because of the prominence of Miss Peacock's family, and from the fact that Cozart is a prepossessing looking man and that the lady prosecuting is a handsome person.

SENATOR CLAY DEAD

Famous Georgian Passed Away
Yesterday in Atlanta

Atlanta, Nov. 13.—United States Senator Alexander Stephens Clay of Georgia, died at the Robertson sanitarium here this afternoon at 3 o'clock, after an extended illness. His death was peaceful as it was sudden. He had been talking with his son Herbert a few minutes when he suddenly ceased speaking and fell back with a slight gasp.

During the morning and afternoon the Senator appeared in better spirits than usual, the attending physicians stating that he was apparently recovering from the slight relapse of Saturday. Mrs. Clay came to Atlanta from their home in Marietta this morning, but when she found the Senator so much improved, returned to Marietta about noon. The only member of the family present at the deathbed was the Senator's son, Herbert, who is mayor of Marietta.

George Cotton, Jr., visited in Columbia yesterday.

ANNISTON WATCHMAN BURNED TO DEATH

GRADY GARRETT, A YOUNG MAN EMPLOYED BY L.
& N. RAILWAY

Anniston, Nov. 13.—With one of his arms and one leg entirely burned away, the other leg and arm partially gone and other frightful burns evident, the incinerated body of Grady Garrett, a nightwatchman for the Louisville and Nashville Railway, was discovered beside a slag pile near the Mabel furnaces in the city this morning.

The deceased had been employed to watch a steam shovel which the railroad company had been using to haul away slag.

Theories of Death

Two theories as to his death have been advanced; one pointing to foul play and the other that he had become cold, sat down by the slag pile, fell asleep and was overcome by the gas fumes arising from the molten metal, being partially buried in a later dump.

The coroner did not undertake to state the exact cause of his death. He took charge of the body and carried it to the home of Grady's mother-in-law at Nineteenth and Cooper, where funeral services will be held Monday afternoon, interment following at Edgmont.

The deceased was 19 years of age and had no other relatives.

YOUNG MAN SWIFTS HORSE

He Trades Horse to Gypsies, and
They Get Left in the Deal.

A clever piece of swindled work was pulled off this morning in Dothan when an unknown young white man stole a horse and traded him to a bunch of gypsies doing business in the wagon yard back of the Alliance warehouse.

The young man walked up to the wagon yard where a horse belonging to John Forrester, of Cowarts, but was driven here this morning by Bob White, of that place, was hitched, and taking the animal, proceeded to trade him off to the horse traders. He swapped the big gray to the gypsies for a little mustang pony for a difference of $11 and then tying his pony in a stall walked off whistling.

The young man was nicely dressed and the deliberate way in which he made the trade excited no suspicion from any one and the matter was not known until the driver of the animal saw the gypsies with it. He requested his horse back and the traders were (Continued on page eight)

GRANDSON OF EX-JUSTICE
BENJ. HODGON RECEIVES
FATAL INJURIES

Marianna, Fla., Nov. 13.—Five-year-old grandson of ex-justice Justice Benjamin Hodgson, Jr., was fatally shot about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and died about 6.

The little fellow was at the home of his uncle, Charles Hartford, near Bascom, when the accident occurred. A young son of Hartford started hunting and as he got on the veranda he started to unbreach his gun when it discharged, the entire load entering the stomach of the little child, who was so close that wax from the shell also penetrated his flesh.

Medical aid was summoned and two physicians responded, but could do nothing for him. The burial was in the family plot in the city cemetery here today.

Partly cloudy and much colder tonight and Tuesday.

Mrs. W. E. Whitley left this morning for a visit to relatives at Greenwood, Fla.

LOMAS, RAPID WRITER

For rapidity of composition the prize among novelists must be awarded to Alexandre Dumas, who died with over 3,000 books to his credit, in all of which he had some share. According to Arthur E. Davidson, one of his biographers, he often declared that when once he had mapped out in his mind the scheme of a novel or a play, the work was practically accomplished, since the mere writing of it presented no difficulty and could be performed as fast as the pen could travel. Some one disputed this; the result was a wager.

Dumas had in his head the plan of the "Chevalier de la Maison Rouge," of which he had not yet written a word, and he made a bet that he would write the first volume of the novel in seventy-two hours. The volume was to be bound by seventy-five large leather covers, each page containing twenty-five lines and each book five volumes.

Seventy-two hours Dumas had written the first volume of the novel in his fair flowing hand, and he won with six days to spare.

OVER 150 years ago the old French Market at New Orleans won fame through its exquisite coffee. It was a rare treat to stop at this celebrated market and sip of the delicious beverage—the only place in America where it could be secured.

The society dames of all the Mardi Gras Balls would not consider the event complete without a cup of French Market Coffee as a "nightcap."

MRS. FRITTER MARRIED AT ROSWELL

A wedding occurred last evening at the home of Rev. C. C. Hill on North Kentucky avenue, at 6:30 o'clock, which will be a genuine surprise to a great many people in Roswell.

The contracting parties were Mrs. Stella Partridge Ritter and Wesley Cole Fick, of Kansas City Mo. The only attendants were Miss Nan Crossland and the family of the clergyman.

After the ceremony the party was driven to the Armory where Mrs. Ritter took her part in the Peak Sister's entertainment according to program.

After a few days Mr. and Mrs. Fick will leave for the north, Mr. Fick resuming his work as western representative of the American Music company.

Mrs. Ritter will be missed in Roswell and hundreds will wish her every happiness in the world. She had taught music in the city for several years with much success, and during all that time has been so generous with her voice that she has won the hearts of the people in all walks of life.

Wherever she could help, there she was gladly, an attribute that does not attach to all professional singers. All of the people to whom she has been so true a friend, will join in congratulations, when the first gasp of surprise is over, and the members of her large class realize that the plans for the winter are off.—Roswell, N. M., Register-Tribune.

Mrs. Ritter lived at Dothan for several years and left many friends here.

Mrs. B. H. Meadows, of Hartford, was brought to Dothan yesterday in an automobile. She has been suffering some weeks with rheumatism, and will spend some time in the city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Logue.

Sam J. Hall, of Gordon, was in the city this afternoon.

CARROLL GETS YEARS AND HIS

Carroll was arrested a day or two after the offense was committed and was placed in the county jail. He escaped a few weeks ago with a man named Blann, but was recaptured a short while ago at Abbeville, Ga.

Works Of Art.

"I see, Mrs. Jiggers," remarked the star boarder, "that you are emulating my friend J. Pierpont Morgan, and blowing your substance for rare words by the old masters. That new picture in the parlor is a corkdinger, to use a technical term. Is it from the brush of Raphael or of Titian?"

"I'm sure I don't know who painted it," replied Mrs. Jigger. "There was an auction yesterday when I was downtown yesterday and that picture was going cheap so I made a bid. The frame alone is worth all I paid for the whole picture."

"I believe it would make a couple of bushels of kindling," commented the star boarder, with enthusiasm. "The trouble with most of our art connoisseurs is that they have no knowledge of sawwood, and are unable to estimate the value of a frame when it is sawed into stove lengths. They become so interested in technique and such things that they lose sight of the practical side of art. It takes the landlady of an American boarding house to combine the realistic and the impressionist methods. I would give 48 cents to accompany Mrs. Jiggers through one of the great art galleries of Europe, and hear her sizing up the works of the old masters.

"But that picture you bought at the auction sale, Mrs. Jiggers, truly is a marvel. I stood before it for an hour today trying to decide whether it's a landscape or a historical work and couldn't figure it out. I seem to identify trees in the background, which would suggest a landscape, but the foreground is crowded with strong figures engaged in strenuous exertion of some sort. At times I thought it represented the execution of the duke of Monmouth and again I was convinced that it portrayed Washington crossing the Delaware. Did the auctioneer tell you what the picture represents, Mrs. Jiggers?"

"No. He said it was a copy of a celebrated painting in the Louvre and he seemed a very obliging man. He delivered the picture at the house without making an extra charge."

"You will find that genial and accommodating disposition in nearly all men who are wedded to art, Mrs. Jiggers. If the picture is a copy of a celebrated painting in the Louvre, there is no more to be said. Once establish that fact, and the critics are confounded. If any man stands before that magnificent work and says that it looks to him like an aggravated case of the blind staggers, just say that it's a copy of a celebrated painting in the Louvre, and he will take off his hat and apologize.

"Pictures are a good deal like poetry, Mrs. Jiggers. Now that we know your work of art is a celebrated painting in the Louvre, it makes no difference whether it represents a sunset at sea or a Kansas farmer having his whiskers trimmed. Even a copy of a celebrated painting is a good enough bluff for a boarding house. In the house of the opulent they have original paintings instead of copies and if you happen to break into one of those houses the proprietor will show you through his private art gallery, and tell you that this painting is a Tintoretto, and that one a Delacroix and the other one a Turner and you are so overwhelmed that the butler has to pour ice water over you.

"The picture may look like horrible daubs to your untrained eye, and, privately, I have no doubt that they are horrible daubs, in many cases, but when the owner tells you, in an awestruck whisper, that one is a Tintoretto, and so on, you feel it. Maybe you never heard of Tintoretto, or Delacroix, or Turner, but that makes no difference. The bluff works just the same.

"I remember when a friend showed me a bust, and said it was a copy of one made by Praxiteles, I felt dizzy for half an hour. I didn't know whether Praxiteles was a town or a breakfast food, and don't know yet, but the manner of my friend warned me that I was treading on hallowed ground.

"It's the same way with books. One time I wanted to start a little private library and I went to a book dealer and asked him to recommend some hot stuff. He took down a big heavy book and brushed it tenderly with his handkerchief and said, in a solemn whisper that it was Dryden's translation of Juvenal. The way he said it convinced me it must be the real goods and may be it was. But it was like your picture, Mrs. Jiggers. I never could decide whether it was poetry or clam ehowder."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Do you do the amount of work you get pay for doing?

A fable is an open-face lie with a moral attachment.

Don't try to raise a disturbance unless you would lower yourself.

Man is a queer likes to have it said he looks like him, but if he is told he resembles by.

It is truly a fortunate for most of us that we are compelled to transform our thoughts into words.

A woman likes to have her hand run for a political picture that she may have a chance to see pictures of the entire family in the newspapers.

Harness Sermons

How Long Halt Ye Between two Opinions?

Our sermon today has to do with indecision, and is from 1st Kings,
XVIII Chapter, 21st Verse.
A man may deceive himself with a cheap hand-me-down suit, if he pleases, but it's different with a horse. The elements of danger and costliness are always in this sort of a "horse suit."
A cheap, flashy harness is never a sane investment. If you will let us have a chance to demonstrate the "staying, stylish," qualities of our harness, you'll go without some other things before you'll buy cheap mail-order or factory made harness.
Look over our line of Lap Robes and Horse Blankets.
